Project Development Editor and Writing Coach Bonny Millard will present a two-part writing workshop, "The Building Blocks of Story," for beginning and intermediate writers.

The workshop will cover fundamentals of writing stories, both fiction and nonfiction, and how these techniques can be used for drafting a richer narrative. Millard will lead the workshop through lecture and discussion, Q&A, and writing prompts designed for developing works-in-progress or getting a project underway.

Writers will learn how use story components such as characterization, narrative and conflict to move a project from the idea stage into a compelling read.
